300 Clergymen Hear Senator Attack British Palestine Policy

Charging that the source of Arab agitation against the Jews in Palestine lies in British imperialistic politics and that "Britain stop this agitation within twenty-four hours," Senator Owen Brewster of Maine declared in New York that "Palestine is the spot where the next war may originate."

Senator Brewster spoke at a luncheon meeting of 300 Christian clergymen at the Hotel Commodore under the sponsorship of the American Christian Palestine Committee, as part of a three-day conference on Palestine. Other speakers included Dr. Henry A. Atkinson, general secretary, World Alliance for International Friendship through the Churches; Rabbi Philip S. Bernstein, National Jewish Welfare Board, and Dr. Carl Hermann Voss, of the American Christian Palestine Committee.

Senator Brewster declared that "funds to support the Arab agitation unquestionably came from American and British sources." Describing King Ibn Saud of Arabia as "a petty despot before whose threats America and Britain are growing pale," he said that Ibn Saud had been lent $20,000,000 by the British, and had been promised $12,000,000 by President Roosevelt. Senator Brewster added that "President Truman said he finds no record of the promise by President Roosevelt."

"We are now told that back of all this Arab agitation is a sinister Russian figure," said Senator Brewster. "Well, I was in London two years ago and was privileged to meet one who was just going out as a secret agent, succeeding Lawrence of Arabia; he gave me a document without official imprimature but purporting to be an outline of British policy in the Middle East. It provided for exactly what happened in these two years: Syria, Lebanon, Transjordania, Iraq and Egypt, Saudi Arabia, it was hoped, were to be consolidated into an Arab Federation under the protection of the British Colonial office, so that foreign policy would be controlled.

"Everything that has since happened confirmed the correctness of that document, from the very adroit moves by which a revolution suddenly broke out in Syria and Lebanon, and the French, almost, before they knew it, found themselves outside the domain that had been pledged to them under the League of Nations. And so we have seen this great tragedy unfold before our eyes, and now we are told that it is impossible for the Jews to go to Palestine because it will not hold them."

Arab leaders are "blackmailing" Britain and the U.S., said Dr. Atkinson. He declared that the morning papers in Lebanon said that "if Britain and the U.S. did not let the Arab chieftains have their way in Palestine, we may not be able to obtain oil in the Middle East."

Three hundred men and women, including educators, clergymen and members of Christian groups in[illegible] called for action by people in the U.S. toward obtaining Palestine as a true homeland for the Jews.

Prof. Carl J. Friedrich, of Harvard University, said that we in America should no longer "underwrite British imperialism in the Middle East. We should realize, he said, "that we have a vital, long-term interest in the solution of the Palestine problem, for Palestine is the entering wedge of modernism in the Middle East."

Other speakers included the Rev. Wendell Phillips of Christ Church, Rye, N.Y.; Prof. Nelson Mead, dean of the College of the City of New York; Dr. George N. Shuster, president of Hunter College, and Dr. Howard M. LeSourd, of the American Christian Palestine Committee.

Flee From Poland Back To Camps

In addition to being hounded by anti-Semitism, Polish Jews who have gone back home after surviving the concentration camps often find that they have "literally nothing left" in their native country, and so they head back for Austria, hoping eventually to get into Italy [illegible] to cross the Czechoslovak and Hungarian borders can only be guessed, but the risks and dangers accompanying the venture would not be likely to discourage persons who have been brutalized for years and were strong enough to come out of the concentration camps alive.

Most of these newest refugees are young and fairly healthy, and would be able to support themselves if they could get to Palestine. If the British permit further immigration there a way will be found to transport them direct from Austria without stop-overs of more than a few days in Italy.

All of them want to push on from Austria as soon as possible, but meantime they are being put into already inadequate camps, and while the Russians are trying to put down anti-Semitism in Poland, progress thus far has been slight, so that the figure of nearly 200 new refugees wandering daily into Austria is unlikely to fall off in the immediate future.

Of the 21,000 persons that the Joint Distribution Committee is now trying to help in Austria, almost 12,000 are living in camps, displaced persons in the most tragic sense, and the great majority of that number are Poles. A camp for displaced persons is not comfortable or homelike, but when 200 men and women take to the roads again every day and go through considerable hardship to get back to one of those camps, the authorities naturally hesitate to repatriate others. Thus, almost all Poles now in Austria are coming to be considered non-repatriable.

At present they are pretty evenly divided between the American zone, which has approximately 5,500, and the British zone, which contains roughly 4,500. In the French and Russian zones, there are at least 1,000 more. In addition to the Poles, there are still several hundred Hungarians and Rumanians, who are difficult to repatriate but whose camps are almost empty of Jews from western European countries as they have been able to return home.

Conditions throughout the camps in the American zone are improving, Mr. Remik is convinced, and he believes that when the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration and the JDC take over their administration in two or three months, progress can be [illegible] rapid. One great difficulty to date, he pointed out, has been that displaced persons have been considered the responsibility of the military, with the result that [illegible] have been under tactical commanders.

[illegible] in itself would not have made things so difficult if the [illegible] had not been transferred so

OPEN SEMINARY IN BELSEN

A Yeshiva has been opened in Belsen, Germany, by Rabbi S. Baumgarten. Two Lithuanian Rabbis, who escaped from Oswiecim, are co-operating with Rabbi Baumgarten in conducting the institution. The necessary books have been obtained from London.

A conference of Beth Jacob teachers from a large number of camps in the British zone in Germany was held at Celle under the chairmanship of Rabbi Dr. E. Munk. The transport for the delegates was made available by the military government. Dr. Munk outlined to the delegates the Jewish position in Palestine and the Diaspora, and promised to convey to the Agudist Executive the desire of the majority to emigrate to Palestine.

Huge Meeting Protests Closed-Door Policy

Great Britain's "closed-door" policy restricting Jewish immigration into Palestine was protested by Senator Barkley, of Kentucky, and Mayor Edward J. Kelly, in speeches at a mass meeting that filled Chicago Stadium.

Numerous non-Jewish groups were represented in the audience, notably Labor unionists of both the American Federation of Labor and the Congress of Industrial Organizations.

The huge gathering approved resolutions directed to Prime Minister Attlee demanding that England "redeem her pledge given to the Jewish people" and thousands of individuals signed prepared postcards addressed to President [illegible] urging him to [illegible] Jews.

Declaring that he was not un-

Asks Hotels To Bar Hate Groups

Revealing that the Empire Hotel, scene of recent meetings sponsored by allegedly un-American "Nationalist" groups, will no longer grant use of meeting rooms to such societies, the Non-Sectarian Anti-Nazi League called upon all members of the New York Hotel Association to follow this precedent, and to inquire carefully into the background of "religious" and "patriotic" groups seeking space for meetings, whenever the exact nature of the organization is not already known.

The Anti-Nazi League's request was contained in a letter signed by Herman Hoffman, chairman of the League's Board of Directors, warning that dangerous subversive groups often adopt a camouflage of religious or patriotic terminology, and pointed out that anti-Semitic, anti-Catholic, anti-Negro and other racistic or Nazi-like organizations are prone to select high-sounding religious or patriotic titles.

While reaffirming its devotion to the democratic principles of speech and of assemblage, the League observed that the activities of "propagandists and propagandistic organizations", the principal result of whose work is to stir up group hatreds and cause riotous disorders, and which are often controlled by the same individuals who openly served the Nazi cause before Pearl Harbor, are not to be considered as examples of the kind of "freedom" protected by these well-established American principles.

The League's letter to the hotel men, it was pointed out, resulted in part from such recent episodes as the meetings of the "Eastern Monetary Conference" at the Empire Hotel, and the alarming increase in the number of interracial disturbances occurring in New York. Speakers at the "Monetary Conference", the League declared, included at least one self-declared American representative (Ernest Elmhurst) of the pre-war Nazi propaganda organization formerly headquartered at Erfurt, Germany, and a man (Col. E. N. Sanctuary) now under indictment for conspiracy to commit sedition, who was for some years historian and a principal propaganda writer for the notorious Ku Klux Klan.

The League's letter to the Hotel Association strongly commended the "patriotic stand" of the Em-

Berlin Gets U.S. Medal of Merit

By direction of President Truman, Irving Berlin, the composer, whose musical revue, "This Is The Army", with a soldier cast, put more than $9,000,000 into the Army Emergency Relief Fund, was decorated in Washington with the Medal of Merit.

Gen. George C. Marshall presented the medal to Mr. Berlin for "extraordinary service to the United States Army in building and maintaining morale among soldiers and civilians." The ceremony took place in Gen. Marshall's office in the Pentagon building in the presence of a number of high ranking officers.

During a three-year period from February, 1942, Mr. Berlin gave all his time to the creation and production of "This Is The Army". The show had a long run in New York City, toured the U.S. and finally was made into a successful motion picture.

Mr. Berlin wrote the book, music and lyrics, organized the company, personally staged the revue and appeared as an actor in both the stage and movie versions. He accompanied the show on tours of six overseas theatres of operations, entertaining hundreds of thousands of American and British soldiers and contributing substantially to British war relief as well as to the American fund.

Mr. Berlin gave these three years of his time and energy entirely without compensation. The citation accompanying the Medal of Merit observed:

"He has set a high standard of devotion to his country and has won for himself the thanks and appreciation of the United States Army for highly meritorious service."

U.S. ADMITTED 250,000 REFUGEES; 67.60% JEWS

Two hundred and fifty thousand refugee immigrants were admitted to the United States from 1933 to 1944, and, in addition, 16,000 refugees are there on visitors' visas, it was revealed by Dr. Maurice R. Davis, chairman of the Department of Sociology at Yale University and authority on immigration, at a meeting of the board of the Yiddish Scientific Institute, in New York.

Ten Leave U.S. To Settle In Palestine

Ten persons, including two children, the first group of Jewish colonists to leave the United States for collective farms in Palestine since 1939, sailed with 800 other passengers aboard the Swedish exchange ship Gripsholm.

There was the air of the pioneer about the ten as they sat closely together on a baggage truck on Pier F, Jersey City. Officials of the American Export Line, which operates the Gripsholm for the United States Government, said a number of passengers bound for Palestine had cancelled passage because of the uncertain political situation there.

On the pier, among passengers anxious with sailing-time chorus and hundreds of friends and relatives on hand to see them off, were more than 100 youths, members of Zionist groups, who came to be with the ten before they began their voyage.

The youths, boys and girls who

Arabs See U.S. Pledge In Roosevelt Letter

The anti-Zionist Arabic press welcomed with great headlines publication of the exchange of letters between King Ibn Saud of Saudi Arabia and President Roosevelt, which confirmed what had been common gossip throughout the Middle East for weeks, that the President had promised the King that the United States would not take any action regarding Palestine without consulting both Arabs and Jews.

President Roosevelt said in his letter to King Ibn Saud that no decision would be taken "with respect to the basic condition in Palestine" without full consultation with both Arabs and Jews and that he would take no action "which might prove hostile to the Arab people."

Annoyed by statements in Washington that there was no record of President Roosevelt's promise, the King had been threatening for some time to release the letters and the texts were issued in Cairo on October 19 by the Legation of Saudi Arabia. This correspondence explains the bitterness that Ibn Saud conveyed to American diplomats over President Truman's request for the admission of 100,000 more Jews to Palestine, says Clifton Daniel, in the New York Times.

The United States Government will not reach final conclusions with reference to any proposals that would change the basic situation in Palestine without "full consultation with Jewish and Arab leaders," James F. Byrnes, Secretary of State, announced in a statement of fundamental policy on the Palestine immigration problem.

At the same time Mr. Byrnes stated that we "shall continue to explore every possible means of relieving the situation of the displaced Jews of Europe."

It is presumed that Secretary of State Byrnes had been warned by American diplomats from the Middle East, now visiting Washington, of the King's intention to publish the correspondence. There was no arrangement between the two Governments for simultaneous publication, so far as is known, and the appearance of the letters surprised American officials.

The genuineness of the Arabs' determination to keep Palestine an

UNSUNG HEROES RESCUED TENS OF THOUSANDS OF JEWS THROUGH UNDERGROUND CHANNELS

The amazing story of a middle-aged Swiss Jewish retired businessman who persuaded Hitler's agents to cancel the deportation of 200,000 Jews from Hungary to almost certain death in Poland, browbeat the agents into releasing another 1,700 Jews from Bergen-Belsen, and won permission to send truckloads of food to the starving inmates of other Nazi camps, is about Saly Mayer, a leader of the Swiss Jewish community and full-time volunteer representative of the Joint Distribution Committee in Switzerland. His exploits were reported on by Dr. Joseph C. Hyman, J.D.C. executive vice-chairman, and Moses A. Leavitt, J.D.C. secretary, at a press conference in New York.

These officials supplemented the final summary report of the United States War Refugee Board and revealed how the close cooperation of the two organizations resulted in the initation and carrying out of one program after another for the relief and physical rescue, through underground channels, of tens of thousands of Jews trapped in Nazi-occupied Europe.

Dr. Hyman, reported that when the War Refugee Board was set up by order of President Roosevelt in January 1944, the Joint Distribution Committee immediately put itself at the disposal of the Board to aid in saving lives and from that point on found itself engaged in a series of rescue operations so secret that in some instances even J.D.C.'s Executive Committee could not be told of them. These operations made it possible, among other things, to keep some 9,000 Jewish children in hiding in France; to pass thousands of Jews to safety in neutral countries; to help over 8,000 Jews reach Palestine from Nazi-dominated Rumania; and to carry out other life-saving projects that pale the utmost limits. Yet all the while that the J.D.C., cooperating with the War Refugee Board, was engaged in a truly amazing rescue program, critics, not all of them acting from disinterested motives, were busily castigating the organization for its lackadaisical and timid attitude."

The J.D.C.'s role during the period was under the full scrutiny of the U.S. War, State and Treasury Departments, and its rescue operations were carried out with the full cooperation of these agencies.

Saly Mayer, the organization's representative in Switzerland, was approached by the S.S. commercial representative for Hungary, Kurt Becher. The Nazi agent, claiming to be close to Himmler, brought a German offer to halt the deportation and extermination of Jews in Hungary for a proper ransom. The War Refugee Board indicated that it would raise no objection to Mayer's entering into further discussions on the proposal, since he was a Swiss citizen, but made it clear that no ransom transactions could be entered into or authorized by the United States Government.

Saly Mayer carried on discussions with the Nazi representative for months, with the object to gain time for the hundreds of thousands of Hungarian Jews the Nazis threatened to exterminate. At one point, at the risk of his life, Mayer entered Nazi Germany to carry on the discussions. During the course of the negotiations, Mayer asked the German representatives to demonstrate that they had actual power. He ordered them to route a trainload of Jews being transported to Bergen-Belsen to Switzerland instead. The Nazis complied, and Mayer secured the entry of 1,700 saved refugees to Switzerland.

At another point in Mayer's negotiations, he was advised that 90 trains were ready in Budapest to carry 200,000 Jews to the notorious murder camps in Oswiecim. Mayer called Becher and threatened that either the deportation order be cancelled, or the negotiations would be broken off. The deportation order was cancelled.

The Nazis in their turn also demanded of Mayer that he demonstrate his ability to carry out his part of the bargain. Mayer then called on the J.D.C. to supply $5,000,000 which he might show for the purpose. The J.D.C. borrowed the funds from the banks and made this vast sum available. The U. S. State and Treasury Departments permitted the J.D.C. to transfer the amount, so that Mayer could hold the negotiations open.

In the course of the long drawn-out negotiations, Saly Mayer succeeded in shifting from discussion of ransom to the consideration of a proposal that he arrange for relief supplies to be sent into Germany through the International Red Cross to keep Jews and other persons alive. Early in 1945, tons of food furnished by both the War Refugee Board and the J.D.C. went into the camps. Refugees coming out of Theresienstadt and other camps have testified how they owed their lives to this food.

Saly Mayer also served as the agent through which funds furnished by the War Refugee Board and the J.D.C. were supplied to French, Czech, Italian and other undergrounds. These underground fighters in turn helped Jews to escape to safety.

"The war produced many outstanding Jewish heroes," Dr. Hyman said, "but among the greatest must be ranked this quiet, effective, Orthodox Jew, who performed great deeds day in and day out in comparative obscurity. In Washington, War Refugee Board officials regard Mayer as inspired for the skill with which he protracted his negotiations. Jews, and all the civilized world owe him an unpayable debt of gratitude. We are hoping that Saly Mayer, who is still very much in the thick of the battle to bring aid to the Jews of Europe, will be able to come to the United States to attend the annual meeting of the Joint Distribution Committee, December 8."

Another individual whom Dr. Hyman named as an unsung hero who saved the lives of thousands of Jews, was Raoul Wallenberg, a non-Jew. Wallenburg, a young Swedish businessman, proceeded to German-occupied Hungary to aid in the rescue and relief of persecuted Jews. Armed with funds furnished by the Joint Distribution Committee, the War Refugee Board, and the Intergovernmental Refugee Committee, and with diplomatic status granted by Sweden, Wallenberg issued Swedish protective passports to thousands of Jews threatened with deportation. He hired extra buildings as official Swedish quarters to house several hundred rabbis and communal leaders, under the protection of extra-territoriality attached to such buildings. In all, approximately 20,000 Jews were saved through this device.

Dr. Hyman reported that Wallenberg, who has not been heard from in some time, is believed to have lost his life in these operations.

Early in 1944, a gateway for escape from the Balkans to Palestine though Turkey was technically opened to a small number of refugees fleeing the Germans. The escape routes were by boat across the Black Sea from Rumania to Turkey and by rail through Bulgaria. The War Refugee Board, represented at that time by Ira A. Hirschmann, a New York businessman, developed a steady flow of refugees over these routes through Turkey. American pressure to obtain the exit of refugees from Rumania and Bulgaria was put on the proper authorities. Approximately 7,000 persons were brought out by boat across the sea from Rumania, or by rail

"... and someday, WE'LL take a trip!"

SOMEWHERE in the back of your mind, there's that urge to go places. Right now it must be filed under "Future" but it's part of us as Canadians to want to discover for ourselves what the rest of the world is like—to plan for that "some day," when we'll take a trip! That's why it must be part of our planning now, to make sure such pleasant things as trips are possible in the post-war world. And they'll be possible only if we fight against inflation—fight now to keep Canada's dollar worth a full dollar!

Why is NOW so important? Because NOW civilian goods are scarce, money is plentiful. NOW is the time we must guard against paying more than things are worth—against black markets—against buying more than we need, or goods we don't need! NOW is the time we must support rationing and price controls!

Up to the present, we've kept our dollar sound. And we can continue to do so if we keep up a strong, steady fight against inflation!

If we fail in this fight, prices will rise. Wages will never quite catch up. Soon you'll pay, perhaps a dollar for a quarter's worth of goods! And that means your dollar is worth only a quarter! That's inflation.

And after inflation, comes depression. Depression means neither you nor anyone else in Canada will have trips. You'll be lucky if you have a job! So, for our own sakes, for the sake of returned men, for our children, let's never relax our struggle to keep Canada's dollar worth a full dollar!

Make this Pledge Today!

I pledge myself to do my part in fighting inflation:

By observing rationing and avoiding black markets in any shape or form.

By respecting price controls and other anti-inflation measures, and refraining from careless and unnecessary buying. I will not buy two where one will do, nor will I buy a "new" where an "old" will do.

By buying Victory Bonds and War Savings Stamps, supporting taxation and abiding by all such measures which will lower the cost of living and help keep prices at a normal level.

Red Cross Protects OSE Doctors And Supplies To Poland

Several trucks loaded with medical supplies, drugs, surgical instruments, and restorative foods, purchased by the headquarters of OSE, organization for child care, health, and hygiene among Jews, left Switzerland on September 20 for Poland under the protection of the International Red Cross, says the American OSE in New York, upon receipt of a cable from Dr. Beria Tshlenoff, chairman of the OSE Union in Geneva. OSE physicians, Dr. Szymon Rosenbluth, Dr. Alexander Schanterg, and Dr. M. Jakubowicz, will deliver the shipment directly to the headquarters of TOZ in Lodz, the sister organization of OSE in Poland.

The cable report states that the transport to Poland consists of seven tons of various drugs, sanitary articles, surgical instruments, and implements for two chemical laboratories, as well as equipment for two dental cabinets. The shipment also includes one and one-half tons of restorative foods; chocolate, cocoa, condensed milk, powdered eggs, and other foods essential for the sick and undernourished Jews in Poland.

Another transport of medical supplies, now ready to leave France for Poland, will also be carried in Red Cross lorries, and will be accompanied by members of the OSE staff in Paris, headed by Dr. M. Zuckerstein.

Reconsecrate Oslo Synagogue

The reconsecration of the Oslo Synagogue was a tragically moving event for the few sorrowing and unhappy Jews who have returned to their congregation; for their brothers and sisters—members of the Allied Armed Forces—as also for a number of non-Jews who attended.

Among those present were H.R.H. the Crown Prince Olav of Norway, Privy Councillor Bonnevie Swendsen, Dr. Johan Scharffenberg (the famous Norwegian criminologist), Odd Nansen, K.C. (son of the great Fridtjof Nansen), Dean Hygen and the Revs. Urbye and Axel Weebe, the last-named Rector of the Swedish Church as Oslo.

The service was conducted by the Chief Rabbi of Denmark, Dr. Marcus Friediger, and Chazan Leo Grabowski, of Copenhagen.

Chief Rabbi Friediger delivered a touching address and paid special tribute to the late Rabbi Julius Samuel of Oslo, one of the first victims of the Nazis.

He concluded by thanking the Crown Prince for honouring the ceremony with his presence and asked him to convey to H.M. King Haakon the assurance of the congregation's loyalty. He also thanked all the distinguished people present, the Government, and the Norwegian people for the help they had vouchsafed the Norwegian Jews in their hour of need.

Finally Chief Rabbi Friediger prayed that God might bless the King and all the Royal Family, the Norwegian people, and the congregation; that He might comfort the survivors in their great sorrow and might give them strength and courage to live on and work in His will.

Palestine Industry Operated At Capacity, Szold Reports

Palestine's economic structure is being strengthened by the steady development of industry and agriculture, it is indicated in the 19th annual report of the Palestine Economic Corporation, largest American business enterprise in that country, made public by Robert Szold, chairman of the board of directors.

"The peak of Palestine's war-effort production was reached early in 1944 and the industrial and banking corporations financed wholly or in part by the Palestine Economic Corporation are now devoting themselves to such peacetime activities as low-cost housing, expanded chemical production and the granting of special loans for dairy and citrus fruit purposes, Mr. Szold pointed out.

"Industrial capacity was fully employed in Palestine in 1944," the report states, "despite organizational, raw material, labor and transportation difficulties. There were full employment, increased payrolls, increased currency in circulation, scarcity of goods, a severe housing shortage and very high price and wage levels."

The consolidated balance sheet of the Corporation for the year 1944 shows a net profit of $78,392.71 or $7.56 per share of common stock outstanding on December 31, 1944. The reports submitted to stockholders are prepared on an accrual basis and include undistributed profits of wholly-owned Palestine subsidiaries.

To provide increased capital "to expand and implement its program", the report explains, a prospectus for the sale of $1,500,000 additional common stock, consisting 15,000 shares priced at $100 per share, has been issued; subscriptions to this stock reached $676,693.98 par value by June 30, 1945.

Reflecting the Corporation's policy of assisting in the sound growth of the country along approved social and economic lines, the report outlines the long-range projects of its subsidiary companies, with particular emphasis on plans for the construction and financing of low-cost homes to meet the housing shortage.

Bayside Land Corporation, Ltd., one of the principal subsidiaries of the Palestine Economic Corporation, continued systematic development of its landholdings in metropolitan Haifa. "The Bayside area is developing with Haifa's growth as a main port and business city of the Middle East," the report emphasizes. "The area's industrial and residential zones are being built according to a master city plan."

The report discloses that a new affiliate, the Palestine Housing Corporation, Ltd., was established by Bayside Land Corporation, with Palestinian, English and Egyptian associated in 1943 to engage in large-scale, low-cost housing construction. Acreage has been acquired in the Haifa Bay area and in a suburb of Tel-Aviv, with options on additional land. This will enable it to participate in the Palestine government project for construction of 27,000 room-units.

During the past two decades, the report adds, approximately 1,200 homes, 500 in urban and suburban areas and 700 in rural towns and villages, have been erected and financed for immigrants and residents of limited means by the Palestine Mortgage and Credit Bank, Ltd., another subsidiary of the Palestine Economic Corporation.

The Central Bank of Cooperative Institutions in Palestine, Ltd., an affiliate of the Palestine Economic Corporation, closed the year with undistributed profits amounting to $36,000 and a general reserve of $190,000. The bank grants loans to cooperative societies of all types, urban and rural. Seasonal loans are mainly for the purchase of agricultural requisites, while intermediate and long-term loans often are for expansion of mixed-farming, dairy-breeding and irrigation.

The Palestine Water Company, Ltd., another subsidiary of the Palestine Economic Corporation, sold a total of 2,850,000,000 gallons of water in 1944, an increase of 10 per cent over the previous year. Palestine Potash, Ltd., in which the Palestine Economic Corporation is a substantial stockholder, maintained heavy production of potash and other chemicals in 1944.

Approximately 2,000 Dutch young Zionists are training now in 5 or 6 Zionist centres for emigration to Palestine. 1,000 wish to emigrate immediately.

THE Electric METER Is for Your Protection

EVEN though your Hydro makes electricity available to you in Ontario at a very low cost, it is important that you pay only for the amount of power that you actually use. The electric meter on duty in your home, is your protection against paying for more than you consume.

Every one of some 800,000 meters in Ontario is tested and certified by a Dominion Government inspector at regular intervals to assure complete accuracy. Electric meters are among the finest of jewelled precision instruments . . . as constantly true as the finest watch.

For your protection, Hydro installs a separate meter, exclusively for your own household. Having a meter of your own is the only possible way to be sure that you only pay for the electricity which you use. Imagine buying food from a merchant who weighs several people's orders at the same time, and splits the cost evenly regardless of the size of the orders! You want your order weighed individually when you buy food. When you use electricity your meter assures accurate individual measurement.

Low cost Hydro service in Ontario offers amazing comforts and conveniences. For your protection . . . so that you will pay for only the amount of Hydro you actually use, a Government Inspected Meter is installed for your own household exclusively.

THE HYDRO-ELECTRIC POWER COMMISSION OF ONTARIO

To Memorialize Massacred Jews And Christians Who Risked Lives In Rescue

Plans for the erection of a memorial in Jerusalem for the massacred Jews of Europe, the heroic ghetto resisters and for Christians who risked their lives to rescue Jews, were announced in a statement by representatives of the Jewish Agency, The Vaad Leumi, Jewish Palestine's National Council, World Jewish Congress and Hebrew University.

The plans provide for the launching of a drive for funds for the project under the auspices of the Vaad Leumi. All Jewish organizations are to be approached to join in a world council to direct the project. The governments of the liberated countries will be asked to permit representatives of the council to visit the sites of destroyed Jewish communities in connection with plans for the projects, and Jewish Chaplains, officers and enlisted men on the continent will be asked to assist in recording and collecting everything pertaining to the past and present of Jewish life in Europe.

The memorial will consist of a central hall in which a candle will be kept eternally burning, symbolizing the perished Jews. In this hall will be kept lists of all who perished. The lists are to be compiled from the remains of victims, as well as from testimony of relatives and documents left by the Nazis.

In the hall and surrounding garden a monument is to be erected to Jewish communities, both large and small; it will have lists of their members who perished, and of those who were saved. Religious, spiritual, and literary treasures of the communities will also be preserved here.

A monument to ghetto fighters is to occupy the center of the garden. On each side of the monument will be dedications to Jews who participated in the war against Hitler, and will carry names of Jewish soldiers fallen in battle, according to armies and countries, including, naturally, Jewish volunteers from Palestine. For the memory of future generations, patterns of death camps, furnaces and instruments of murder and torture will be reproduced, based on realistic facts.

The story of desperate acts of friendly non-Jews who protected and saved their Jewish brothers will also be mentioned.

At the end of this year or early next year the Iraq Petroleum Company will begin construction of a new 620-mile pipeline from Kirkuk to Haifa. This will be one of the largest postwar plans for the Middle East. The new pipeline, which will run parallel with the existing one will be 16 inches in diameter and will bring to Haifa an additional 4,000,000 tons of crude oil a year. Thus Haifa will receive an additional flow of 6,000,000 tons as compared with the 2,000,000 tons at present flowing though the existing 12 inch line. The building of the new pipe is not expected to be completed until early 1948. Some 4,000 local laborers will be employed on the job, in addition to experts and other personnel from abroad.

Palestinian servicemen and women are being demobilized along similar lines to these in United Kingdom. Mustering-out-pay is based on the rates of pay for service in Palestine. Plans for the absorption of Jewish ex-servicemen are now being implemented by the Jewish Agency for Palestine. All of the Palestine Jewish troops that have been released are being settled on the land absorbed in industry. Altogether close to 30,000 Palestine Jewish war veterans are being demobilized.

A children's village has been established on Jewish National Fund Land near Kfar Netter with funds contributed by Canadian Hadassah. At least 250 children refugees eight years old and upward will be settled there in conjunction with Youth Allyah.

A brand new industry is now being developed in Palestine namely the manufacture of victrola records. The founder of the new industry is a Jewish refugee, born in Russia, who spent many years in Germany where for 25 years he was engaged in manufacturing records mostly of Jewish and Hebrew music. He used to produce some 150,000 records a year, most of them for export to U. S.

1944 marked a record in the rate of natural increase in the population of Jewish Palestine. Jewish births in that year totaled 15,583 as compared to 10,000 in 1939, while the death rate was the lowest of any year. Births for the five-year period 1940-45 totaled 62,000 which together with immigrants during the same period gives a net Jewish increase, after deducting the deaths, of 85,000.

Under a new law no child under the age of 12 may be employed in any undertaking of any kind. None under the age of 14 may be employed in any industrial undertaking.

Subject to these minimum age limits, a child of either sex who is under 16 years of age may be employed, but for not more than 42 hours a week and not more than seven and a half hour a day. Continuous spells of more than four and a half hours may not be worked without half an hour's break. A child who has completed less than seven years' elementary schooling may not be employed for more than three hours daily. If attending evening classes, a child must be released from work not later than 4 p.m.

At Haifa a congress of radiologists from all over the Middle East will open on November 7, to commemorate the 50th anniversary of the discovery of X-rays by Prof. Roentgen in Wuerzburg on November 8, 1895.

The congress will be held under the auspices of the Radiological Association of Palestine which will simultaneously celebrate its tenth anniversary. The Association, the only one in the Middle East, was founded in 1935 by Dr. I. Itkovitch who presided over the first congress held in that year in Haifa and who will again preside over the forthcoming conference.

The Universities of Istanbul, Athens, and the French University in Beirut have already announced their intention to participate. The British Council will also participate and arrangements to despatch a special film and speaker from London are at present under consideration. There will also be a technical exhibition by leading British and American firms, showing the latest developments in X-ray processes and post-war X-ray technique.

German newspapers in Cologne, Hanover, Frankfort and other U. S. and British occupied zones have commenced publishing articles, advising the German people to repent and revise their anti-Semitic outlook and to educate their children in a humanitarian spirit, declaring that the anti-Jewish Hitler regime is responsible for Germany's present tragedy.

German civilians in the British occupation zone were ordered to provide clothes and blankets for displaced persons.

BUILT BY CO-OPERATION

"I came to build"... said Calvert 300 years ago

CALVERT, famous 17th century English statesman and Secretary of State to King James I, founded pioneer colonies in Newfoundland and Maryland over three centuries ago.

"All have co-operated," said Calvert of the early settlers in 1622. Thus, many generations ago, Calvert, man of vision, planted seeds of co-operation between the Old World and the New.

History has proven Calvert's wisdom . . . demonstrated today in the strong partnership between the British Commonwealth and the United States of America for the benefit of all mankind.

Co-operation between nations will build the future

England and America must continue to co-operate for the future security of the world. We of Canada are best fitted to preserve the great partnership between Britain and the United States . . . for we are their mutual friend, the interpreter of one to the other.

Every Canadian can help guarantee lasting peace by fostering co-operation between the British Commonwealth and United States

MARRIAGES

NUSBAUM-SPERLING

The marriage of Ruth Lillian, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Sperling, 210 Vaughan Road, to Lieutenant Robert A. Nusbaum, son of Mrs. M. Nusbaum, of Buffalo, N.Y., and the late Moses Nusbaum, took place on Monday afternoon, October 22, in the Blue Room of the King Edward Hotel, Rabbi Abraham L. Feinberg officiating. A setting of chrysanthemums formed the background for the wedding. Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a frock of petal-pink crepe, fashioned on simple lines, with a draped peplum. Her calot of matching pink sequins held a short tulle veil, and she carried a Bible with a spray of orchids. The bride's only attendant was her sister, Miss Miriam Sperling, wearing a frock of blue crepe fashioned with a flared peplum. She had a chaplet of flowers in her hair, and carried a miniature cascade of Sweetheart roses. Bernard Meyer was best man. A string orchestra played the wedding music, and during the signing of the register Miss Esther Spector sang, "I Love Thee". Mrs. Sperling, mother of the bride, received, wearing a fuchsia-coloured frock, fashioned with a side drape. Her hat was of shaded matching ostrich tips, and her corsage was of chrysanthemum petals. Mrs. Nusbaum, mother of the groom, assisting with the receiving, wore a black sheer ensemble with a corsage of roses. The bride and groom left on a motor trip to the Southern States, the bride travelling in an ensemble of blue, trimmed with black lamb, and black accessories.

The Kiev Jewish Puppet theatre, considered one of the finest of its kind in the U.S.S.R., is reviving its old Yiddish repertoire, including "Leizer der Berzer" and "Shike der Zaike."

Jews from Carpatho Ruthenia have been denied citizenship in Bohemia and Moravia on grounds that Art. 3 and 4 of the Soviet-Czechoslovak treaty of June 29, 1945, limits Czech citizenship to Czechs and Slovaks living in Carpatho-Ruthenia, excluding indigent Jews living there.

God's Blessing Of Abraham

The traditional Torah readings for this Sabbath and the past Sabbath contain God's blessing of the progenitor of the Jewish people. "Now the Lord said unto Abraham — 'Get thee out of thy country, and from thy kindred, and from thy father's house, unto the land I will show thee, and I will make of thee a great nation, and I will bless thee and make thy name great and be thou a blessing.' (Gen. XII, 1:2) ... 'That in blessing I will bless thee, and in multiplying, I will multiply thy seed as the stars of the heaven, and as the sand which is upon the seashore, and thy seed shall possess the gates of his enemies'." (Gen. XXII :17)

How shall we interpret this blessing? Is there any thing in our historic experience which reflects this blessing as a reality? For many there are who have come to look upon this divine promise as mere Jewish self-delusion! They look about and behold the tragic suffering of Israel during the past decade in which six million Jews perished and they seem to see Israel as a defeated nation. In what respect have Abraham's descendants been blessed?

Well, to begin with, it is most essential that we properly define the term blessing. All will agree that the greatest blessing in the world, the fundamental blessing, is life itself! Without life all else becomes meaningless!

God's promise to Abraham is evidenced in the fact that for a period of four thousand years Abraham's descendants have had a continued existence. Despite Israel's unparallelled suffering through the ages, the Jew has survived and even thrived. What the world so often fails to recognize in the Jew is his power of recuperation. Jews by the thousands have here and there perished at the hands of their enemies but the Jew lives on. The physical existence of Israel in the world today as in yesteryears constitutes one of history's miracles.

The great Russian writer, humanitarian Leo Tolstoy, grasped the meaning of Israel's eternity when he wrote: "The Jew is the emblem of eternity. He whom neither slaughter nor torture of thousands of years could destroy, he whom neither fire nor sword nor inquisition was able to wipe off the face of the earth, he who was the first to produce the oracles of God, he who has been so long the guardian of prophecy, and who transmitted it to the rest of the world, such a nation can not be destroyed. The Jew is everlasting as eternity itself."

And where has Israel proven to be a great nation? Has this promise to Abraham been fulfilled? The Rabbis maintain that this was fulfilled, not in the reign of David and Solomon, but rather at the time when Israel at Sinai accepted the moral law, the Torah. It is Israel's identification with the law of Sinai which stamped the Jew with distinction. He thus became a chosen people bearing witness to God and God's law of righteousness. The Jew, of course, engaged in physical battle for his existence. But his greatest wars have been those in the realm of ideas. Our true victories as Jews have been in the realm of our historic spiritual wars.

The Midrash here and there enumerates the major spiritual struggles we had to wage with the opposing views of life as taught by Babylonia, Greece, and Rome. Babylonia stood for paganism with its attendant immoralities and superstitions. Judaism fought Babylonian paganism and triumphed!

Then Judaism entered upon the struggle with Greek thought, Greek science and philosophy. The Greeks preached the holiness of beauty but the Jew emphasized the beauty of holiness. Judaism met Hellenism. It was not conquered. The Greeks failed to conquer the Jewish spirit though the Greeks subdued all other philosophies. Hebraic ethics and Greek science form the basic foundation of our civilization. There lies much hope for the world in the synthesis of these great two cultures.

Imperial Rome, with its philosophy of power politics, threatened Judaism and the Jew. Rome, the civilized state, tried to say that might is right. Our sires fought Rome. Though Roman legions destroyed the Jewish state, our fathers saw Rome's fall and the spirit of Israel triumphed.

In our own day, Nazism, a new paganism, came to the fore with the hope of exterminating the Jewish way of life. The Nazi barbarians conceived a master plan, scientifically worked out, by which to exterminate the people which gave the Bible to the world. After a hard, bitter struggle, through pillage and fire and death, Israel has managed to outlive the Nazis and is now witnessing the last rites being performed upon the Nazi state which Hitler boasted would endure for a thousand years. Today, all of Germany stands indicted before the United Nations tribunal of justice as guilty of crimes against humanity.

God's promise that Abraham's name would be great, and that of his descendants, has magnificently been fulfilled. The Hebrew worthies of the Bible are loved by all civilized peoples. The Jewish prophets and their teachings have greatly influenced human progress. The God concept which Israel has given to the world is the foundation of all great religion. Man's social and political thinking have been influenced through the Hebrew Bible.

The five greatest events of the last 1900 years, what would they have been without the Jew? Mohammedanism, the Renaissance, the Reformation and unfoldment of democracy, as is evidenced in the British and American tradition, these have been inspired directly and indirectly by the genius of Jewish thought, ideology, and idealism.

We say all this, not as a matter of boastfulness, but as a reassertion of our faith in Israel's destiny among the peoples of the earth, as promised to Abraham by God. In the new age, dawning for mankind, suffering Israel will find respite to pursue his mission in the world and continue to be a blessing to the children of men in accordance with the divine promise. Would that the non-Jewish world might recognize Israel's divine and unique position in the scheme of civilization.

EISENHOWER SAYS EFFORTS TO IMPROVE CONDITION OF DISPLACED JEWS CONTINUES UNABATED

The text of a letter written by Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower to President Truman on a report by Earl G. Harrison, American representative on the Inter-Governmental Committee on Refugees, follows:

Headquarters, U.S. Forces,
European Theatre, Office
of the Commanding General,
8 October, 1945.

Dear Mr. President:

This is my full report on matters pertaining to the care and welfare of the Jewish victims of Nazi persecution within the United States zone of Germany. It deals with conditions reported by Mr. Earl G. Harrison, United States representative on the Inter-Governmental Committee on Refugees, which was forwarded to me under cover of your letter of 31 August, 1945.

Since Mr. Harrison's visit in July, many changes have taken place with respect to the condition of Jewish and other displaced persons. Except for temporarily crowded conditions, the result of shifts between established centers and an influx of persons into centers as winter approaches, housing is on a reasonable basis. Nevertheless, efforts to improve their condition continue unabated. Subordinate commanders are under orders to requisition German houses, ground and other facilities without hesitation for this purpose.

The housing problem must be seen in full perspective. This winter the villages and towns in the United States zone of Germany will be required to house more than twice their normal population. One million and a half German air-raid refugees who were evacuated into southwestern Germany, together with some 500,000 Germans, Volksdeutsche and Sudetens who fled from Poland, New Poland, Czechoslovakia and Yugoslavia before the advancing Red armies have created a condition of congestion in the United States zone which forces the most careful conservation of housing space.

At this moment the United States zone is under orders to absorb 152,000 more Germans from Austria. Added to this influx of population, there is the loss of housing in bombed-out cities, averaging well over 50 per cent; the necessity for billeting large numbers of our troops; and the accommodation required for prisoners of war. The resulting housing shortage is not merely acute, but desperate. Notwithstanding this situation, in my recent inspections and those made by my staff of Jewish centers, although crowded conditions were found, in nearly every instance more than the thirty square feet per person of floor space required for our soldiers was available.

Displaced persons have absolute preference over Germans for housing, but the requirements of the distribution of supplies, the provision of medical care and the need for welfare activities make it desirable that displaced persons be sufficiently concentrated so that these services may be performed efficiently by the limited supervisory personnel and transport at our disposal. Thus, considerable use has been made of large installations such as brick barracks, apartment blocks and other public buildings in preference to scattered individual billets.

Special centers have been established for displaced Jewish persons. In the latter part of June the Armies were directed to collect into special assembly centers displaced persons who did not wish to or who could not be repatriated. On 25 July, 1945, Dr. Rabbi Israel Goldstein, president of the United Jewish Appeal, recommended that non-repatriable Jews be separated from other stateless people and placed in exclusively Jewish centers. As a result, the American Joint Distribution Committee was called upon to supervise the establishment of these centers. This policy was reiterated and expanded on 22 August. Special Jewish centers were established for "those Jews who are without nationality or those not Soviet citizens who do not desire to return to their country of origin."

At the time of Mr. Harrison's report there were perhaps 1,000 Jews still in their former concentration camps. These were too sick to be moved at that time. No Jewish or other displaced persons have been housed in these places longer than was absolutely necessary for medical quarantine and recovery from acute illness. It has always been our practice, not just our policy, to remove these victims with the utmost speed from concentration camps.

The assertion that our military guards are now substituting for SS troops is definitely misleading. One reason for limiting the numbers permitted to leave our assembly centers was depredation and banditry by displaced persons themselves. Despite all precautions, more than 2,000 of them died from drinking methylated alcohol and other types of poisonous liquor. Many others died by violence or were injured while circulating outside our assembly centers. Perhaps then we were overzealous in our surveillance. However, my present policy is expressed in a letter to subordinate commanders wherein I said:

"Necessary guarding should be done by displaced persons themselves on the volunteer system and without arms. Military supervisors may be employed, but will not be used as sentries except in emergency. Everything should be done to encourage displaced persons to understand that they have been freed from tyranny and that the supervision exercised over them is merely that necessary for their own protection, and well-being, and to facilitate essential maintenance."

I feel that we have the problems of shelter and surveillance in hand. Of equal importance is the provision of sufficient and appetizing food. In the past, a 2,000-calorie minimum diet was prescribed for all displaced persons in approved centers. Our field inspections have shown that in many places this scale was consistently exceeded, but there have also been sporadic instances where it was not met. Three or four thousand persons of the persecuted categories, including German Jews, in the American zone, have returned to their home communities. Many are there making a genuine effort to re-establish themselves. Until recently, there has been no clear-cut system of assuring adequate food for this group, although in most cases they have been given double rations.

I have recently raised the daily caloric food value per person for ordinary displaced persons in approved centers to 2,300, and for racial, religious and political persecutees to a minimum of 2,500. Feeding standards have also been prescribed and sufficient Red Cross food parcels and imported civil-affairs military-government foodstuffs are on hand to supplement indigenous supplies and meet requisitions to maintain these standards. We are now issuing a directive that those Jews and other persecuted persons who choose and are able to return to their communities will receive a minimum ration of 2,500 calories per day, as well as clothing and shoes, the same as those in centers.

Clothing and shoes are available in adequate amounts and of suitable types. Uniformly excellent medical attention is available to all Jewish people in our centers, where they have generally adequate sanitary facilities. UNRRA and AJDC staffs, which are administering an increasing number of our centers, are becoming efficient and are making it possible for these people to enjoy spiritually uplifting religious programs as well as schooling for children.

It is freely admitted that there is need for improvement. The schools need more books; leisure-time and welfare activities must be further developed; paid employment outside the centers needs to be fostered; additional quantities of furniture, bedding and fuel must be obtained. We have made progress in reuniting families, but postal communications between displaced persons and their relatives and friends cannot yet be inaugurated; roads and walks must be improved in anticipation of continuing wet weather. We are conscious of these problems, we are working on them, and we have expert advice of UNRRA, of Jewish agencies and of our chaplains.

In certain instances we have fallen below standard, but I should like to point out that a whole Army has been faced with the intricate problems of readjusting from combat to mass repatriation, and then to the present static phase with its unique welfare problems. Anticipating this phase, I have fostered since before D-day the development of UNRRA so that persons of professional competence in that organization might take over greater responsibilities, and release our combat men and officers from this most difficult work.

You can expect our continued activity to meet the needs of persecuted people. Perfection never will be attained, Mr. President, but real and honest efforts are being made to provide suitable living conditions for these persecuted people until they can be permanently resettled in other areas.

Mr. Harrison's report gives little regard to the problems faced, the real success attained in saving the lives of thousands of Jewish and other concentration-camp victims and repatriating those who could and wished to be repatriated, and the progress made in two months to bring these unfortunates who remained under our jurisdiction from the depths of physical degeneration to a condition of health and essential comfort. I have personally been witness to the expressed gratitude of many of these people for these things.

ARABS SEE

Arab state is not questioned by British or American diplomats in Cairo and it has been communicated to Washington and London. That it may lead to open warfare is doubted, but serious disorders are forecast.

If not in a military sense, the Arabic united front is being consolidated daily in a political way. The Arab League has surprised old hands in the Middle East by its cohesiveness and effectiveness. The way in which Azzam Bey, the League's Secretary General, has handled negotiations in London has been observed with interest.

Egyptians are waiting for the exact date when King Ibn Saud will leave his country for the second time to journey to Egypt to repay King Farouk's call. He is expected to arrive after the end of the five-day Moslem holiday that begins Nov. 16.

The journey ostensibly will be a state visit, but its implications as a gesture of solidarity between the Arab states is not overlooked. There is talk that the visit may be made an occasion for an assembly of the chiefs of the Arab states.

The first time Ibn Saud went abroad was to meet President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill after the Yalta conference. The Arab autocrat's first peek at the outside world apparently intrigued him and President Roosevelt in turn was impressed by the demeanor of the desert King. Diplomats who attended the meeting between the two described the President as being struck by the shrewdness and knowledge of the monarch, who is such an anachronism that his court is still held in a tent. The exchange of letters followed.

After being barred for five days to American soldiers, Palestine was opened to some of them again on orders from the headquarters of American forces in the Middle East at Cairo. Palestine was placed out of bounds to all American soldiers except those on duty there for fear that some might be involved in incidents. Individual soldiers may go to Palestine on essential leave.

The Palestine police have begun organizing an air arm to strengthen their internal security and for frontier and coastal patrols. The airborne unit is expected to be used to oppose Jewish military organizations.

The Jewish left-wing majority newspaper Davar editorially attacked the activities of extremist groups, asserting that there was "nothing in common between their wanton, indiscriminate attacks against the forces of law and order and the Jewish people's struggle for its future."

HUGE MEETING

mindful of "the delicate international situation" in Palestine, Senator Barkley said in his prepared address:

"The plight of the Jews cries out for the opening of Palestine doors."

"In a free world the Jew must be free," said Mayor Kelly. "The displaced members of his people must have a home. Historically, legally, Palestine is his home. America has so recognized, and we are happy to know that our President has taken a well-chosen position in this respect and we appeal to him to stand firmly upon that position.

"We appeal to him to bring all the prestige of his office and the force of American public sentiment to bear upon our Allies to redeem the pledges made to the Jews and to right as far as is humanly possible the manifold wrongs which they were compelled to suffer."

Max Silberman, president of the Zionist Organization of Chicago, read the resolution addressed to Premier Attlee, which was submitted to the audience for approval.

In part, it stated:

"The tragic plight of the Jewish people justified the hope that the war's end would bring immediate deliverance to them. Instead, we are receiving the ghastly reports of continuing tragedies, of deaths and suffering to which that martyred people is being subjected since the end of the war, and the betrayal of their hopes by what is ironically called 'The British White Paper.'

"Your country may succeed in escaping history's verdict of guilt for the thousands, perhaps millions, of Jews slaughtered, whose lives might have been saved prior to and during the war, but not for the deaths since the end of the war."

The postcards for President Truman bore this message:

"Thousands of your fellow-Americans gathered here in the Chicago Stadium in a mass demonstration against England's inhuman attitude and refusal to recognize its promises and obligations under the Balfour Declaration beg you to continue your efforts in behalf of the surviving European Jews."

Judge Harry M. Fisher, of Chicago, who presided, charged Great Britain with "breach of a sacred trust." Max Bressler, chairman of the committee for justice, which arranged the meeting, said:

"We come here to demand that the (British) White Paper, which was the death certificate for our 6,000,000 unknown soldiers who perished in the crematoriums and gas chambers, be torn to shreds and blown to the winds."

pire Hotel, in its decision to blacklist the "Monetary Conference" and urged other hotels in the city to follow the Empire's "good example" with regard to this and similar groups.

The action which the League is requesting parallels that which was taken by the New York Association of Printing Trades, which decided not to make their shops available for the printing of racistic propaganda devised by subversive persons or organizations. This decision followed the discovery that one of the individuals mentioned above (Elmhurst) had arranged with a Staten Island printer to produce several thousand copies of the oft-exposed Nazi propaganda tract known as "The Protocols of the Elders of Zion".

frequently. It was hard for men who had recently come off the fighting lines and who were impatient to get home to become interested in looking after displaced persons, Mr. Resnik said.

Then, after they had become interested, almost in spite of themselves, they often were moved on and a new tactical unit came in to take over, and the same attitude of indifference had to be overcome. Now that the staffs have become fairly permanent they are doing a good job, according to Mr. Resnick. He especially commended the Twenty-sixth (Yankee) Division and the Forty-second (Rainbow) Division.

Conditions in camps in the British zone compared favorably with those in the American zone, and in some instances surpassed them.

TEN LEAVE U.S.

arrived from New York and other cities, danced, on the busy pier, the folk dances of Palestine, the rapid motions of their feet blending with the songs they sang in accompaniment, songs that for all their liveliness always reflected the old Hebrew chant. Many of the boys and girls said they planned to be colonists, too, when they are old enough.

Around and around they danced, forming a large circle on the outside and a smaller one, counter rotating, within. The hurrying, changing crowds on the pier were drawn to watch by the music, resounding and strange in the unfamiliar setting. The pier, while covered, seemed bare and drafty, and the white lines loomed alongside.

The ten colonists watched quietly. Some of them had prepared for years for the new life they were on their way to begin. The ten included Joseph M. Wilfrand; his wife, Belle, and his ten-year-old daughter, and eleven-month-old son. The others, ranging in age from twenty-two to twenty-eight, included Mr. and Mrs. David Schley, of Baltimore, who passed five years at the Zionist camp at Cream Ridge, N.J., in preparation.

German banks in the Soviet occupied zone are paying out ten thousand marks monthly to Jews whose deposits were confiscated by the Nazis. Germans who acquired confiscated Jewish homes or businesses must register them. A commission of German and Soviet economists will decide to whom to restore the Jewish properties.

Yiddish will be the official language in all Polish Jewish schools, it has been decided by the Jewish Central Committee. The first Jewish school, with 200 pupils, has been opened in Lodz, to be followed shortly by schools in Warsaw, Bialystok, Cracow, Lublin, Danzig and Lower Silesia. The Government will subsidize all Jewish schools.
